Bristol Port handles break bulk cargoes across a wide range of trades and has the capability to handle the largest break bulk vessels in operation

Saga Welco on berth at Royal Portbury Dock

Bristol Port has a long history in break bulk; the first vessel to call the newly opened Royal Portbury dock in 1978 was owned by Gearbulk. Today Bristol Port has regular calls from G2 Ocean, Saga Welco and Splietoff with steel from the Far East as well as European break bulk shipments in coaster vessels. Cargoes currently handled include Steel, Plywood, KLB, Paper and Woodpulp.

We operate over 1 million square feet of high quality, quayside warehousing ^[1]with polished concrete floors for the storage of break bulk cargoes as well as extensive open storage areas.

We will also be exhibiting at Breakbulk Europe 2022 17 - 19 May 2022 at the Rotterdam Ahoy.
